Kriss Law-Atlantic Closing & Escrow Announces Merger With DaMore Law

Strategic Partnership Strengthens Vermont Market Presence and Expands Full Suite of Real Estate Planning Services

Needham, MA December 1, 2025—Kriss Law/Atlantic Closing & Escrow ("KL/ACE"), a national, attorney-driven settlement services firm, has merged with DaMore Law and its Vermont division, Green Mountain Lawyers. DaMore Law is a multi-practice firm serving Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont. The merger significantly strengthens KL/ACE's market presence in Vermont and expands the firm's comprehensive real estate and estate planning and related legal services to clients across the region.

The strategic partnership marks another milestone in KL/ACE's substantial, continued growth process and reinforces the firm's commitment to providing attorney-backed expertise and elite customer service across its expanding footprint. DaMore Law brings to the merger a 25-year legacy of serving New England communities with offices in Burlington and Methuen in Massachusetts and Killington, Vermont.

"This merger brings together two firms that share a commitment to exceptional client service and community engagement," said KL/ACE President and CEO Scott D. Kriss, Esq. "DaMore Law and Green Mountain Lawyers have built an outstanding reputation in Massachusetts, Vermont and throughout New England, and we're thrilled to welcome Peter and his team to the Kriss Law/Atlantic family. This partnership allows us to offer our full suite of residential and commercial settlement services, combined with DaMore Law's expertise in residential, commercial and estate planning, creating an even more comprehensive resource for our clients."

The merger positions KL/ACE to better serve real estate professionals, lenders and homeowners throughout the entire state of Vermont, with a centrally located office in Killington. With Green Mountain Lawyers' established presence in Killington and strong ties to the Vermont community, the combined entity will offer clients seamless access to title, closing and escrow services alongside complementary legal services.

“Joining forces with Kriss Law/Atlantic truly enhances and expands the resources and services we provide to our clients,” said Peter T. Damore, Esq., of DaMore Law. “Scott and his team have built an impressive organization known for innovation, integrity and a genuine commitment to making the real estate process easier for everyone involved. Our shared values around client service and community support make this a perfect fit, and I’m confident our clients will benefit tremendously from access to KL/ACE’s national platform and resources.”

DaMore Law has been a fixture in the New England legal community for a quarter-century, offering guidance in real estate transactions, estate planning, business representation, corporate formations, probate and estate administration, condominium and related practice areas. The firm’s DaMore School of Real Estate has provided educational seminars to buyers, sellers, real estate agents and lenders on topics ranging from purchase and sales agreements to closing procedures.

The merger continues KL/ACE’s growth strategy of expanding its geographic footprint while maintaining its core commitment to personalized service. The firm has demonstrated its ability to successfully integrate acquisitions while preserving the unique strengths and client relationships of partner firms.

KL/ACE has established itself as a leader in providing educational resources to the real estate industry. The firm has conducted numerous seminars on critical industry topics, with more than 100,000 real estate and mortgage lending professionals from all 50 states attending overall. The firm recently launched a support initiative for professionals navigating changes brought about by the pending NAR commission lawsuit settlement. Additionally, the firm been at the forefront of educating its client base on updated laws and regulations as they arise

All members of the DaMore Law and Green Mountain Lawyers team will join KL/ACE, and current clients will continue to receive the same high-quality service they have come to expect, now enhanced by access to KL/ACE's broader suite of services and national resources.

Matthew graduated from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and Northeastern University School of Law. Matthew is an expert in Real Estate Law and has handled thousands of real estate closings. In addition to conveyancing, he specializes in title examination and title resolution, commercial and residential leases, real estate related litigation, corporate (asset purchases, stock purchases, shareholder agreements, commercial real estate purchases and sales, entity formation, and contract review), estate planning and estate administration.

Matthew understands the complexities of the law and can provide you with the best advice and counsel on your real estate needs. He is committed to providing exceptional legal services at a reasonable rate and takes pride in helping his clients achieve their goals.

Real Estate

Buying or selling a home is a significant undertaking. It often begins as an exciting process, with prospective homebuyers and sellers dreaming of new beginnings and a better quality of life. Given the complexity of residential real estate transactions, headaches sometimes arise, and without the proper guidance, that excitement can quickly turn to stress and frustration. This is where DaMore Law comes in – to provide professional and experienced legal counsel so that our clients can rest easy knowing their rights are protected and that a qualified team is in place to ensure everything moves as smoothly as possible.

Estate Planning

Everyone can benefit from having a written plan in place to ensure their assets are preserved and protected as they age and after their death. Our experienced attorneys are here to ensure your assets are handled with care, minor children are provided for, and to minimize the tax burden on your estate. We know every family is unique. That’s why we always give exceptional service and guidance with estate planning to create a personalized plan that works best for you.

Business Law

Given the complex nature of modern-day businesses, organizations must have expert legal counsel to successfully guide their leaders from start to finish. DaMore Law represents small business from their beginning stages, including formation, corporate governance, and agreements among owners, through their evolution and development, including commercial contracts and agreements, stock agreements, asset purchase agreements, and financing agreements.
